Forecast For West Midlands
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Saturday 31 Jul 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Showery conditions persisting with risk of thundery outbreaks.

Today:
Saturday beginning relatively dry and bright with isolated showers developing later in the morning. Showers becoming more widespread by afternoon, some locally heavy and thundery. Feeling warmer compared to Friday. Maximum temperature 22 deg C (72 deg F).

Tonight:
Showers gradually easing through the evening. Overnight, most places will be dry with some clear spells, though the odd shower is still possible. Feeling fresher with winds remaining light. Minimum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Sunday:
A drier day on Sunday with plenty of sunny spells across the region, providing pleasant conditions. Still a possible isolated shower predominately to the south. Maximum temperature 21 deg C (70 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Showery conditions will persist through the period becoming increasingly widespread through early next week. Sunny spells and light winds expected amidst showers. Cooler than recent but pleasant in sunshine.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.